The Last Days of the Confederacy in Richmond

From the Life of Jefferson Davis just published

At 11 o'clock in the morning General Lee wrote a despatch to President Davis at Richmond advising him that the army could not hold its position and that preparations should be made to evacuate the capital that night. He wrote yet another despatch which he remarked to some of his staff officers as, with emotion, he handed it to them, he saw this day breaking upon them in Richmond the line has been outflanked and it has broken

News of the battle—not an echo, not a breath had yet reached the doomed city. It was a lovely Sabbath day, and Richmond basked in its beauty and enjoyed more than usual repose from the cares of the week. There were no sounds as of the vexed thoroughfare; the long roll had often not a vehicle upon them; the church bell only gave ones only to soothe the ear and the silent pulses of the sunshine lay lovingly in the misty warm air that laid on the land. It was a day of careless thoughts. In usual Sunday crowd lounged in at the Post Office expecting rumors of the war, or the more depraved gossip of Richmond society. Hundreds went down their way to the churches while many a few of their country's hope trod the paths beneath as sheep walks to the back end of the city, which shady shops on Main street and a night consolation in the stand of the Duke Hampton, the Libel and the Wilderness. Ladies dressed in old finery in which the fashions of many years were mingled were satisfied to make a display at St Paul's at one equal to the holiday was that a sinfulness day of the negroes at the Air in Church. At the former church was seen Mr Davis.

He was still and alone in the Presidential pew, which no one outside his family had ever dared to intrude since Mrs Davis had ordered the sexton to remove two ladies who had ventured there and who, on turning their faces to the admonition to leave, delivered before the whole congregation had proved to the dismay and well-feigned mortification of the President's wife to be the daughters of General Lee. Mr Davis was an earnest worshipper. But a Sunday before this memorable one he General Lee and Secretary Trenholm had gone together to the communion table, and many eyes in the congregation had been moistened to see these three in communion with whom depended so many human hopes kneeling side by side to partake of the most precious and comforting sacrament of the church. Now a very different scene was to be witnessed.

In the middle of the services a man walked noisily into the church and handed the President a slip of paper. Mr Davis read the paper, rose, and walked out of the church without agitation, but his hurried manner evidently constrained, in an unusual manner through the crowd of worshippers and many hastened into the street. The congregation was soon dismissed. The rumor had already gained the street that Richmond was to be evacuated. It was confirmed to a few who had penetrated to the closed doors of the War Department, or had made persistent inquiries at the telegraph office but although the government had no motive now to suppress the said truth but on the contrary, was in duty bound to inform the people and prepare them for the exigency. It is remarkable that there was no authentic announcement of the intended evacuation no published order on the subject, no official information of any sort, and that news in which every man's household was involved was left to wander all day as a vague rumor in the streets only to be confirmed by the actual visible act of the authorities leaving the city.

A little past noon some regiments of Longstreet's command on the north of the James River, were seen marching through the city, on their way to reinforce General Lee in the battle he was then supposed to be making to save or recover his lines before Petersburg.

The soldiers moved with a stouching step, and once on their direct march it is said groans were called for Jefferson Davis. Formerly, when Confederate soldiers had passed through Richmond there had been music cheers crowds of shouting spectators, throngs of ladies standing on the balconies of the principal hotels on Main street to wave their adieus, perchance to scatter flowers on them at least to bestow upon them sweet and inspiring countenances. Now, as they passed through the thoroughfare only a few spectators looked on sadly or cynically no note of music cheered the sullen procession of men marching sadly and wearily to death a few blank faces appeared at the windows, and on the balconies of the American Hotel only two or three ladies stood. It was melancholy to see one of the

VERY LATEST NEWS.

Another Railroad Accident—Three Persons Killed.

LOUISVILLE, KY., July 28.

A serious accident occurred to the passenger train from Memphis, coming to Louisville, at Rudd's Creek, eight miles below Clarksville. The entire train and contents, except the New Orleans sleeping car, burned, and the latter is badly damaged. The following is a list of the casualties:

Killed—Eugene Rielly, Charles Shields, fireman; Hugh McCall, passenger, New Orleans.

Badly wounded passengers—Mrs H. McCall, New Orleans; Joseph Dent, New Orleans; John Burt, Columbus, Miss; H. D. Mitchell, New Orleans; Judge Caulkins and wife, New Orleans; J. Buck, Clarksville; Seth Henderson, (colored,) Memphis; C. H. Sage, Fulton, New York. Trainmen—C. A. Brown, baggage master; John C. Duggan, express messenger.

Slightly wounded and bruised—Wm. McCall; Ed. Stone, Eupbalia Florida; Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, Baton Rouge; W. S. Packer, Pittsburg; J. C Hannah, Coffeeville, Miss; J. C Levy, Holly Springs, Miss; Miss Hattie Michael, Lauderdale; W. F. Sheppard, New Orleans; J. E. E Corville, Stewart's Station; Burton Salisbury, Stewart's Station; two children of Judge Caulkins, New Orleans. Train men—S Lewis, sleeping car conductor; W. D Wray, Mail Agt.; E D. Browne, brakeman; C. B. Webster, brakeman.

Great praise is awarded Mat. Lowe, the conductor, for his coolness and prompt discharge of his duty. The express books and papers were saved from the wreck. It is ascertained that there was about $100,000 in the safe, and at last accounts from the wreck the safe had not been found. After the fall of the train fire was communicated to the baggage and passenger cars from the locomotive, and all were destroyed, except the last sleeping coach together with all the express matter and the passengers' baggage, which is a serious loss. Considering the fact that the fall was at least 25 or 30 feet, and that all of the cars were nearly pulverized, it seems a miracle that a single soul escaped. Those of the wounded who are at Clarkesville are receiving the best of medical attention and the sympathy of the population. Mr. Pike and sister are at Clarksville awaiting an up train. Mr Stow is being kindly cared for Judge Caulkins and family are also under treatment at Clarksville. Mr. Duggan, the express messenger, is also at Clarksville, but his case is doubtful.

Since writing the above it has been ascertained that the body of a man badly burned has been found under the wreck. He is not recognized.

General News.

NEW YORK, July 28.

The Herald's special London dispatch of July 27 says To day the Harvard crew rowed twice on the river Thames in their American boat and created a favorable impression. The style of rowing was good, although the pace was considered rather slow The Oxford crew called upon the Harvards during the day and fixed the race for August 23, or one of the following days The members of the Harvard crew will practice daily until the race comes off.

A Richmond dispatch to the Herald states the motions against the banks of Howardsville, Scottsville, Monticello, Phillippi, Pittsylvania and the central portion of Virginia for injunction and the appointment of receivers have been set for argument in the chambers, before Judge Underwood, in Alexandria, for next Friday and Saturday, the 30th and 31st of this month. The suits are brought by Harvey Terry against these banks, and there is over $70 000 involved.

It is rumored in Washington that Gen. Canby is to be sent to Mississippi to superintend the election, and that Gen. McDowell is to succeed him in Virginia.

It was not Charles E. Quincy who was arrested yesterday for passing forged railway certificates on Wm. Heath & Co. Mr. Quincey is cashier of the latter firm and was instrumental in causing the arrest of the real forger, whose name is Geo. A. Abbott. This correction is due Mr Quincey, whose standing and reputation in Wall street is of the highest character.

The steamship China, from Liverpool, has arrived.

Wolff's clothing store, Alexander's clothing rooms, Stearn's carpet bag rooms, Francis' shoe store, and Carter's grocery, in a large building on Chambers street, burned last night. Loss $10 000, insured

The following is furnished us by the Franklin Telegraph Company:

PARIS, July 28—8 45 a. m.

The Emperor of the French to the President of the United States, Washington

I am highly gratified to inaugurate the new line of telegraph which unites France with the United States by sending you the expression of my good wishes for you and for the prosperity of the United States NAPOLEON.

WASHINGNON, D. C, July 28

The President of the United States to the Emperor of the French:

I cordially reciprocate your good wishes, and trust that the liberal policy of the United States, pursuant to which this cable has been landed, may result in many such means of communication, especially between this country and its earliest ally and friend. U. S. GRANT.

In his speech yesterday at the banquet, in honor of the laying of the French cable, Sir James Anderson said he had been told that certain opposition had been made to the landing of the cable. It might be due to the same kind of enterprises, perhaps, to Mr Field and his colleagues, but he he did not care for that. He was quite sure that the American people would not be unjust, and they would not allow any company to expend a million of money to unite two great continents together without giving them a fair show at least. He believed it would be weak and foolish on the part of the company to ask for undue sympathy or partiality. If they could not work as well as the rival company, or faster, they had no right to the public patronage and would not get it. The cable was therefore laid as a purely commercial enterprise, and every right thinking person trusted that it would promote peace. God forbid that it might ever be used as a weapon of war.

One of the officers of a Brooklyn bank, and a son of one of its directors, decamped three weeks ago with $40 000 in currency, bonds and certified checks. He was arrested in that city yesterday and has returned the bonds and checks, amounting to $35,000, leaving the institution loser of $5 000 Names are withheld from publication

The Board of Health reports that 40,000 persons have been vaccinated during the summer. Cases of small pox are now very unfrequent, and all fears of an epidemic have disappeared.

The German Tailors' Union have agreed to strike for an increase of 30 or 35 per cent. in wages The demand of employes to-day is not acceded to.

Rumor Discredited

ST LOUIS, July 28.

The reported burning of the steamer Peter Braden at Dauphin's Rapid, on the Upper Missouri, is not credited by steamboat men here.

The Diamond Robbery

It is now believed that the person who stole the diamonds from Prenhitz's jewelry store last Friday was a man dressed in womans clothes for the occasion. He had two confederates. No clue has yet been found to their whereabouts.

Bulk Grain Propellers.

Charles H. Merry, the gentleman who built the first bulk grain boat on the Mississippi river, and who inaugurated through shipments of bulk grain via New Orleans, having heard that the merchants of St Louis propose to donate $20,000 to any one that will build a propeller for conveying in bulk from St. Louis to New York, writes from the Hot Springs, Arkansas, to a St. Louis paper that he has never doubted the practability of building propellers combining river and sea going qualities; that the matter has received his serious consideration for the past four years, and makes the following proposition to the merchants of this city and everybody else, to wit. I will build a propeller after my own pattern in St. Louis, if it can be done on as good terms as elsewhere, and if the vessel does not prove a success, I ask for nothing. If it does, they shall give me $25 000

The Big Bridge

The report that work has been suspended on the bridge to cross the Mississippi at this point, is incorrect.

The French Cable

BOSTON, Mass., July 28

The Board of Directors of the French cable have sent to Sir James Anderson, the commander of the exhibition which has laid the French cable, the following dispatch:

Please offer to the inhabitants of Duxburry and to the people of the United States generally, our most cordial thanks for their very friendly reception of the cable, which we trust may unite the three greatest nations still more closely in amicable bonds

Cuban Affairs.

WASHINGTON, July 28.

Letters from Cuba received here contain intelligence to the 20th instant. General Quesada had destroyed two important bridges on the railroad from Nuevitas to Puerto Principe, cutting off communication between these cities. All the intervening country is held by the Cuban forces, and the Spanish troops are now confined in these cities and are suffering severely from disease and want of supplies. Several sorties had been made from Nuevitas, and in each instance the troops were driven back with severe loss. General Quesada has a large number of Spanish prisoners, which he is holding as hostages for proper treatment of his men in the hands of Spanish commanders. Among them are a number of prominent officers.

The letters state the Cuban forces have possession of the county from Nuevitas to Porto Principe, with several points on the coast, which gives them direct communication with the United States. It is reported there has been two important engagements, one near Remidos and the other at Sagua La Grande, which the Spanish troops attacked in force. At Remidos the Spaniards were driven off with a loss of 150 killed, wounded and prisoners. At Sagua the fight lasted seven hours, the Spanish forces numbering 1 500, while that of the Cuban's was less than 1,000 effective men. The Spaniards were finally compelled to retreat with a loss of over 300, while that of the Cubans was less than 120.

The result of these battles has inspired the Cubans with renewed courage, and they have no doubt of their ability to maintain themselves against the forces now in the field against them. A large supply of arms and ammunition, including a battery of artillery, with 3 600 men from the United States, successfully landed near Nuevitas and are now a part of Gen. Quesada's forces. The sickness is reported abating, and Generals Quesada and Jordon expect soon to take the field offensively with a force more than equal to that of their opponents.

PARIS, July 28.

It is reported that Don Carlos has ordered a cessation of the movement in his behalf. His partisans are much chagrined.

The Harvard Crew.

Affairs in Spain.

MADRID, July 28.

Many arrests continue on suspicion of disloyalty. At Trinidad Real hundreds of people are soliciting pardon from the government for complicity with recent Carlist movements. They state they were deceived by the Carlist leaders.

A sharp street fight took place yesterday at La Mancha between the Carlist and Government forces. The Carlists were defeated and fled to the mountains. There has been several arrests of Carlists at Cienca, and the insurgents of that place released the prisoners confined in jail.

Miscellaneous.

LONDON, July 28.

Mr. Gladstone is reported better to day.

The coal miners have held a conference at Manchester and resolved to agitate for an increase of wages at the end of the month.

The Harvard crew were out again this morning on the Thames at Putney. They went down with the ebb and returning made 37 strokes per minute Their style was not as good as that displayed yesterday, but the rain fell in torrents and prevented any fair estimate. They will take a second trip this evening.

The News says: At a time when the questions between the old and new countries are suspended rather than settled, it is pleasant to note how mutual affinities make themselves continually felt in many ways, whether in brotherly contest on sea or river or in the acknowledgement of reciprocal, intellectual obligations, or in the exchange of university honors, and they remind us that blood is thicker than water, if not more binding than ink.

BERLIN, July 28.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE MORNING HERALD, TITUSVILLE, July 28, 1869—5 P. M.

The demand on the creek to day was much smaller than during yesterday afternoon, and, under increased offerings prices declined five to ten cents from those at the close last evening. At Miller and Titusville, there were bids at the opening at $5 40, but at the close there were no buyers at over $5 30 or $5.35. At Oil City round lots of light gravity were offered at $5 90 on broad gauge cars, and seller's option thirty days could have been obtained at the same price. At the close a sale of 1,000 bbls, heavy gravity, was under negotiation, at $5.00 on broad gauge cars. The sales were light, and aggregated but 3 200 bbls, of which 1,240 were for Cleveland, 1,500 for New York, and about 500 for local refineries.

Pennsylvania Governors

The office of Governor of Pennsylvania has existed for eighty years and has been filled by sixteen gentlemen It is a noticeable fact that every one of the occupants of our Executive chair has been a native born Pennsylvanian Mifflin was born in Philadelphia M Kean in Chester county Snyder in Lancaster, Findlay in Franklin, Heister, Shulze and Ritner in Berks, Wolf in Northumberland, Porter and Shunk in Montgomery Johnson and Geary in Westmoreland, Bigler in Cumberland, Pollock in Northumberland, and William F Packer and Curtin in Centre Under the Constitution of the United States, every office, not even excepting that of Chief Justice is open to any citizen, native or naturalized except that of President, but, the people of the Keystone State have made at unbroken custom without any constitutional check being put upon them—the custom of having a Pennsylvanian only to preside over Pennsylvania It seems hardly probable, therefore, that this time honored custom will be set aside in behalf of Asa Packer, the Democratic representative from Connecticut If the people of Pennsylvania were under the necessity of importing a Governor, they could undoubtedly do better than select a carpet bagger from the Nutmeg State

Dedication of the New Baptist Church.

A large congregation, consisting principally of ladies, attended the dedicatory services of the new Baptist Church, yesterday The morning services, which commenced about 11 o'clock, continued till 1½ p m, but the services were of an exceedingly interesting character, and the audience seemed unwearied till the close

The order of exercises was as follows

HYMN—Lord of Hosts, to Thee we raise
Here a hymn of prayer and praise.

Reading of Scriptures by Rev Mr. Austin—Psalms 46th and 48th

Prayer by Rev W P Bignall.

HYMN—God of Sovereign of the earth and sky,
And Lord of all below

After the preliminary exercises the Rev J N Webb pastor of the church, explained that the gentleman announced to preach the introductory sermon had unfortunately failed to meet his appointment, and they would accordingly listen to the Rev R H Austin, of Meadville, who proceeded then to deliver an exceedingly eloquent and impressive, yet chiefly extemporaneous discourse.

TEXT—They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness, as the stars forever and ever—Daniel XII 3

Mr Austin said but few had looked upon the Theban ruins, upon whose minds had not flashed he thought, If these piles of broken architecture possess so much beauty and skill in their present condition, what must have been their grandeur when first completed" That the same thought applied to Earth, even yet lovely in its fallen condition But no where are we taught that the Heavens have been marred in their magnificence They shine in the same brilliant glory as when first stretched out Hence, the attitude of the figure in the text They shall shine as the firmament, undisturbed in their purity, beauty and holiness But, as night gives especial beauty to the skies, and the stars are the chief glory of the skies we behold the fitness of the figure intended, "shall shine as the stars forever"

The underlying thought of the text was,

I That piety is the basis of heavenly glory

II That winning men to righteousness is the highest form of piety

Mr Austin said Piety is more than right living, as fruit is more than blossom, 'tis right growing into righteousness That the way of the wise is above the mere maxims policies, principles and motives of worldly wisdom—and is a life of active devotion to God That the precepts and figures of the bible taught that such a life would be honored of God That no degree of bible knowledge no degree of doctrinal efficiency or of theological attainment could place us side by side with the glorified of God—but that a life in Jesus Christ is the price of heavenly honor

While he would not be understood to place a low estimate on doctrinal truth, conscious that a sentiment is more unscriptural or unphilosophical than that a man can feel or act right while views governing his motives are erroneous or defective he would declare that only as truth is worked into active piety would it be honored of God

Under the second head he said I Angels are possessed of piety and the character of their devotion is of spotless splendor—the higher form of piety belonged to men that the turning many to righteousness and its rewards belong to the sons of men That the work of awakening is the highest form of piety As requiring the greatest expenditure of divine power As requiring the greatest exercise of divine wisdom As displaying more fully the divine name As most assimilated to the life work of Christ

Mr Austin wished to impress this latter thought upon the church that while they had done well in the work of building God a house and reflecting credit upon the church and denomination by giving to city and world to the city in which it is located the laborers was but preparatory for a higher duty of winning men to Christ that this work was their immediate and continued duty, and that God had furnished them with the powers requisite to move men that while philosophy had failed by theories of mind to make man other than himself, while scholastic scientific and moral culture can impart no righteousness the gospel can, has and will turn men to God

Mr Austin pressed the thought that the erection of this house of worship not only added beauty to the city value to its property, but also laid its citizens under obligation to assist in its finances, and more and higher, to dedicate their lives to deeds of piety

At the conclusion of the discourse, the Rev Mr Webb presented a brief statement of the financial condition of the society The debt on the church in July, 1867 (which has since been paid off and the encumbrance removed from the church) was $7 000 The amount expended towards its completion was $10 220 99 Amount received from all sources $6 786 43 Bills now unpaid and due, including money loaned, $5,796 Estimate for cost of tower, $1 500

Appeals were then made by Rev E F Crane and others to the congregation for subscriptions to cancel the indebtedness, and resulted in collections and subscriptions to the amount of $1 4 -

An impressive dedicatory prayer was then offered by Rev Mr Connelly, of Corry, and Mr Austin pronounced a benediction

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a sermon was preached by Rev Mr Seyes, of Franklin and at 8 o'clock in the evening by Rev Mr Crane, of Oil City

Following the evening discourse, which was one of remarkable power and unction, were appeals for contributions The audience, which was not large, owing to the inclemency of the weather, responded with cheerful liberality the sum realized exceeding $400 The donors were many of them unconnected with the denomination, and in that class was the subscription of Bryan, Dillingham & Co for $100

The services will be continued to day commencing at 10½ o'clock this morning sermon by Rev Mr Snyder of Spring There will also be preaching at 3 and 8 o'clock, p m

IMPORT OF OIL BARRELS—The London (Ont) Press say A considerable importation of oil barrels is taking place from Cleveland just now via the Great Western It seems singular that with so much excellent timber at hand resort should be had to our neighbors for oil barrels But the fact is we believe, that the stock of seasoned wood here is small, and does not admit of the manufacture of the best quality of casks, suitable for this now developing of trade Seeing that the proper treatment of Canadian petroleum is now an established fact, by means of several independent methods of refining, it is evident that capital would find itself well employed in storing and seasoning the necessary woods and manufacturing them into sound barrels Hitherto the business of oil refining has been to a great extent local, beyond that altogether problematical, but now that the period of certainty has arrived, and Canadian oil can be produced for shipment equal, if not superior, to standard American, 'tis time that the manufacture of the necessary barrels should attract capital and skill It may be fully expected that some wide awake people will set afoot such an enterprise, and a "wooden country" will no longer be driven to import its barrels and wooden ware generally

TO KEEP the system cool, refreshed and vigorous, try the celebrated Vichy and Kissingen waters, on draught at White & Co.'s drug store

A Great Improvement in Boilers.

The Buffalo Commercial notices valuable improvements in locomotive and stationary boilers, patented by Mr E. Weston, of that city, and which, it is claimed, are destined to revolutionize the process of steam-making. The main points are the economy of fuel, of which satisfactory tests have been made in the presence of competent engineers, and that all gases and smoke are consumed, thereby making a perfect combustion, a problem long sought to be solved. The writer says We examined a boiler just put up in the Vulcan Iron Works, which is 41 inches in diameter, 9½ feet long, and with a grate surface of 36 by 33 inches. The fire box and combustion chamber of this boiler occupies 7 feet of the above length. In testing it, steam was raised from cold water to 12 lbs. pressure in 32 minutes. The coal used was the worst we ever saw, being what is known as "soft slack"

The amount of coal consumed in ten hours to generate steam in the boiler for a low pressure engine, 18 inches bore and 24 inch stroke, and making 55 revolutions per minute (with steam 10 to 15 pounds pressure) is less than 600 lbs

This boiler has taken the place of a marine return flue boiler of 50 inches diameter, and 11½ feet long with 4 feet of grate surface, by 4 feet, which consumed of the same coal to drive the above engine, 1200 to 1500 lbs for 10 hours

This boiler is now doing the work required for the Vulcan Iron Works and those interested are requested to call there at any time and satisfy themselves that what we have stated is entirely correct If any one will take the trouble to look at the smoke stack they will notice that not one particle of smoke can be seen to issue from it, as by Weston's combustion chamber in these boilers all the gas and smoke are consumed and help make the steam

Experiments are being made to ascertain the exact amount of evaporation of water to a pound of coal, and it will be found to be very much less than is usual

A distinguished English engineer has been in town examining this boiler, and expresses himself as astonished by its performance It has been patented, and will at once be introduced in England

Spain and Cox

The only thing we get from Spain of interest is Sunset Cox's letters. The revolution is accomplished and Queen Isabella is an exile. But whether a President or King is to be the head of the nation, is not yet settled Money or the bayonet may fix it We hardly think Spain ripe and advanced enough for liberty Religious liberty must usually be the forerunner of civil liberty Cox is a pretty writer, a little dirty in his tastes, but poetic Nature meant him for a Bohemian, but ambition lifted him to Congress On the Democratic stage he passes for a star performer, but he is a good deal more of a sport than a statesman Epistolary Cox does the old Maid of Saragossa' in fine style He appears to have seen her He says

We reached Saragossa early in the morning As we alight at the depot and ride to the hotel my eye glances about for the "Maid" It was a strictly historical optic I saw her My first glance was at the bronze figure at the public fountain, where, in graceful posture, she is forever emptying water from an upturned classic pitcher Besides I saw her in photographs as we go by in the narrow streets I bought pictures of her firing off a cannon while the dead lie at her feet, weltering in blood I knew that she was in artillery song but I was not prepared for the anachronism of her photograph Perhaps it was a spiritual one I saw her (or her de-cendants) carrying babies about, for the 'Maid of Saragossa' is a mother now I saw her bearing on her head baskets of clothes to the brink of the Ebro, to a day's washing I saw her with her face tied up as with the toothache or mumps Finally, I saw her at work in one of the cool, stone houses in the first floor, in a narrow street, with one of Wheeler & Wilson's American sewing machines' The heroine of Saragossa, plying her plump little attired foot and using the heroic glance of her death flying eye upon a Yankee sewing machine! Well! well! What of the maid! Is a myth? Does she vanish when you approach her home? Saragossa, from Roman days—from Gothic days from the early wars with Goth and Frank and Moor—and later in the French wars of 1707—and later still in the Napoleonic wars, was brave to the very death and starvation point Free, beyond all other Spanish provinces—having a fuero or magna charta, or declaration of independence of her own having, in fact, republican liberty, with a congress of four branches, each a check to the other, and all jealous of monarchial prerogative and encroachment. Aragon, whose capital Saragossa was, became renowned for the bravery, persistence, and chivalry of her sons in which patriotic attributes her daughters shared, and to which they contributed What of the 'Maid?' Read Byron or go with us to the northwest gate There you will see the place it is said, she fought by her lover's side There, when he fell, she took the flaming match There she worked the ponderous gun! Her legitimate business was to sell cool drinks, but she has gained an immortality for bravery in Aragon in fighting Frenchmen, which has been shared by a few others of her sex In the famous sieges of this city there are recounted many stories of heroic devotion like hers, and among the photographs we bring home are those of two other heroines who fought in the early wars for the safety of their homes and city.

THE TURF—TROTTING AT BUFFALO—The fourth annual trotting match of the Buffalo Driving Park Association is fixed for Tuesday Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 10, 11, 12 and 13 The premium list amounts to the grand total of twenty five thousand dollars, which is larger than was ever before offered by any association The largest purse offered is one of $10,000, and the smallest of $1 000 The prizes are arranged to accommodate all classes of horses, from three minute nags to the best flyers in the country Among the celebrated horses that will probably be present the Courier mentions the American Girl, now the queen of the turf, Goldsmith Maid, Lady Thorn, Mountain Boy Bashaw, Jr George Palmer, George Wilkes, Rhode Island, Danvers Boy, Tattler, Rolla, Gold Dust and many other flyers Among the double teams are expected Twang and Mack, Jessie Wales and Darkness, General McClellan and Garibaldi, India Rubber Ben and Rose, and Old Put and Honest Allen In addition to horses that have made their reputation, there bids fair to be more than the usual number of "shady" animals, a very deceiving class, which are always developed in great trotting matches, like Danvers' Boy at Mystic Park, for instance, who went in a race for three minute horses and won a heat in 2 28 The Buffalo papers predict that August 10th will mark the inauguration of the finest races the country has ever witnessed

FLIRTING—At the watering places these are the days of flirting,—which is an amusement of which an experienced writer says "The only caution to be observed is, not to go too far" The Saturday Review makes flirting the theme of one of its recent vivacious essays, and in attempting to define the matter, it says

"It is more serious than talking nonsense, and not so serious as making love, it is not chaff, and it is no feeling, it means something more than indifference, and yet something less than affection, it binds no one, it commits no one, it only raises expectations in the individual, and sets society on the lookout for the results, it is a play thing in the hands of the experienced, but a deadly weapon against the breast of the unwary, and it is a thing so vague, so protean, that the most accurate measurer of moral values would be puzzled to say where it exactly ends and where serious intentions begin"

Torpedo Corps for the Navy

The Navy Department, being fully aware of the important part that torpedoes will take in future in naval warfare, has determined to organize a torpedo corps. The corps will consist of one head, and such officers as may be detailed from time to time for instruction and service. The corps will be under the direction of the Bureau of Ordnance, so far as the material is concerned and the direction of experiments. Torpedo stations will be established at Portsmouth, N H, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Norfolk, Pensacola, and Mare Island, other stations will be added as occasion may require. A suitable place will be selected, where all officers entering upon this service will be sent for instruction, and to witness experiments after being properly instructed. These officers, or as many of them as may be required, will be assigned to duty at different naval stations under officers of ordnance. They will have immediate charge of all torpedo apparatus, and be responsible for its condition and readiness for immediate use. They will carefully examine channels of harbors under their supervision and select such places as will be best suited for obstruction by torpedoes. Depots of torpedoes and torpedo material will be established at each of the principal stations under their charge. Torpedo boats will be fitted as soon as possible and kept in readiness for use whenever they are required The use of the torpedo not being confined to defensive purposes, it is intended to make it one of the most efficient means of offense The officers of the navy are called upon to submit to the Bureau of Ordnance any plans relating to the efficient use and working of torpedoes that may occur to them The department would suggest to the officers of the navy wishing to prepare themselves for the service, that a knowledge of chemistry, of friction, and the currents of electricity are very essential Everything connected with the torpedo service of the navy is to be considered by the officers of the navy as strictly confidential. All officers not otherwise employed may, by application to the department be ordered to the experimental ground to witness experiments and receive such instructions as they may require The above has been issued as a general order by Secretary Robeson.

The Great Eclipse—Scientific Observation

A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writing from Springfield, Illinois, under date of July 12 says The Government has employed means to obtain accurately the most preferable localities for conducting scientific observations of the unusual eclipse of the sun Springfield will be directly on the line of the greatest observation Prof Austin, of the Smithsonian Institute, with a corps of skillful assistants, came here at that time, and after several weeks nightly observations established a new and exact meridian line to be called after this city The Professor fixed it about one hundred and fifty miles due west of the new State House dome A suitable permanent monument marks the spot, being a square shaft of marble work sunk seven feet into the earth Here the professor and his corps will erect tents and thence make their interesting observations of one of the most noted astronomical events of the century. We learn that the Professor is now here and will be joined by his assistants in time to make the necessary preparations

As is known astronomers have fixed the solar eclipse for the 7th of next month It will be an occurrence worth seeing, unless the darkness shall be so intense that it shuts out sight Very few persons are alive, perhaps none who witnessed the remarkable eclipse that occurred toward the close of the last century Without consulting encyclopedias or anybody else, we remember the fearful accounts of that terrible event told by our respectable grandmother In portions of this continent the eclipse was total, darkness like midnight fell upon the land darkness that could be felt, birds went to roost beasts laid down in their lairs, work ceased, candles were lighted, and a fearful looking for something inscrutable prevailed in many quarters Astronomy in the country was comparatively in its infancy, little was known of the coming event, and many good people believed the world was coming to an end We have come to understand eclipses better, and scientific minds are preparing to enjoy the 7 h of August as furnishing one of the most delightful and august astronomical treats ever witnessed

We all remember the preparations made to observe the solar eclipse of 1860 when expeditions were sent out from almost every civilized nation The nearest point of total obscurity was in Spain, but our government made no adequate preparations for its observation The total eclipse of the sun to occur on the 7th of next month, will be visible in many portions of this continent, and as a partial eclipse all over the northern part of it and in nearly all of the South In order to observe this interesting event and with commendable liberality, the Navy Department sent Prof Hall, of the Naval Observatory, and Prof Rogers, of the Hydrographic office, last May to Behring's Strait, where the eclipse begins Profs Newcomb, Harkness and Eastman, have been ordered to Iowa to make observations, each independently of the other Prof Yarnell will make observations at the Naval Observatory In the city Prof Austin will, as we have mentioned, have charge of observations. Meantime, amateurs and local astronomers will, all along the line, open their instruments upon the celestial hosts It is going to be a grand time

Astronomers tell us, and the utmost faith may be placed in what they say, that the path of the umbra in which the eclipse will be total is about one hundred and forty three miles broad It will enter the United States near the headwaters of Milk river, longitude thirty degrees west, thence across the Mississippi river near Burlington, Iowa, it will pass through Illinois near this city, and cross the Ohio river near Louisville, Kentucky, thence through North Carolina just south of Raleigh, thence to Newbern, entering the Atlantic near Beaufort, and end at sunset in the ocean.

POWERS OF NOTARIES PUBLIC—In reply to an inquiry on the subject of the authentication of papers by Notaries Public, the Secretary of the Treasury says the act of September 16 1850 confers on Notaries Public the same powers as Justices of the Peace, of any State or territory, to take and certify to oaths, affirmations, and acknowledgements, and the same, when certified under the hand and official seal of such Notary, shall have the same force and effect as if taken or made by or before such Justice or Justices of the Peace 'But on any trial for perjury, or subordination of perjury, committed in any such oaths or affirmations taken or made as aforesaid, the seal and signature of the Notary shall not be deemed sufficient in themselves to establish the official character of such Notary, but the same shall be shown by other and and proper evidence" The Secretary adds 'In view, therefore, of the foregoing, it seems that no rule can properly be prescribed for the government of the several officers of the Treasury Department, but that each head of an office shall exercise his own judgment in passing upon the sufficiency of the evidence of the official character of a Notary Public.'

An Earthquake Predicted.

A very general excitement has been caused in Peru by the publication of the prophecy of a German astronomer asserting that on the 10th, 11th, and 12 h of August of this year, preliminary shocks of earthquake will be felt in Peru and Ecuador, to be followed on the 20th of September or October by a movement of the earth in that region, and along the line of the Andes mountains generally, that will be perfectly appalling in its effects. This prediction has it appears, created wide-spread terror among the Peruvians, and many families are now preparing to seek places of greater security The astronomer cannot ascertain to a certainty whether the grand rupture will occur in September or October, but that it will be on or about the 20th he is confident. He affirms that he has predicted earthquakes before with perfect accuracy.

THE REGISTRY LAW IN PHILADELPHIA—The Democratic officers of the city of Philadelphia do not accept the new Registry law with a good grace. After the decision of Judge Sharswood adverse to its constitutionality had been overruled, the Democratic Commissioners refused to purchase the necessary enrolment books for the assessors, on the pretext that no money had been appropriated to cover the expenditure

Yet, although the old law has been specifically repealed, they have bought blanks and stationery as formerly The consequence has been an application to the courts for an order to execute the provisions of the new law

A BREMEN steamer has brought out twenty nine cases of small pox to this country The vessel now lies in the New York quarantine, and everything is being done for the sufferers, many of whom have the disease in its malignant type, and to prevent the disease from reaching the city Several cases have appeared already in New York, but no fatal ones have as yet been reported With cholera, yellow fever and small pox in her quarantine, New York at present occupies a very unenviable position in a sanitary point of view

The Italian Government has, by a recent decree, called out the young men born in 1848, for all the provinces of the kingdom. The contingent of the Ancona category is fixed at 40,000.

DeWitt and adjoining counties in Texas have lately been infested by gangs of horse thieves. This has provoked the organization of vigilance committees, a letter from there says: "The war of extermination has commenced, and, from the cool, determined character of the leaders, I imagine will not cease until these pests of society have been rooted out. On the 2d instant, two noted characters, Jim Bell and Bill Morrel, were shot on the Colette, in the lower part of DeWitt county. Many rumors are afloat of others in different directions being killed, but owing to the dread existing men say but little."

The great ice manufactory at New Orleans is one of the wonders of the age, yet its processes of converting distilled water into solid blocks of crystal ice are said to be so simple as to beget surprise. Not very much space is required for the purpose, and the hull of a ship, it is said, can be used quite as advantageously as a building upon shore. The water can be distilled from the ocean brine, and the very best quality of ice manufactured, and at a cost, in most localities, much less than the natural article can be furnished for.

David Griffith and wife, of Cambria, Mass., had occasion to leave home on Sunday, leaving four little children at the house. During their absence the children accidentally set fire to a shed, and, to escape punishment, two of them ran into the woods and hid themselves, and the other two, incredible as it may seem, ran to the river and drowned themselves.

The City of Brotherly love is to have a larger musical jubilee than Boston has had. It is proposed to celebrate the centennial anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, on the Fourth of July, 1876, by a gigantic musical festival, in a building especially erected in Fairmount Park, capable of accommodating 100,000 spectators and 12,000 performers. A letter has been sent to President Grant, giving him the particulars of this enterprise and asking an expression of his kind approval and for its success the best wishes of his patriotic heart.

The Cincinnati Commercial says: "Peter Monday, one of those noble minded gentlemen who depend on the exertions of their wives for their supply of bread and meat, and beat them when rations run short, was sent to the work house for thirty days by Judge Straub, on Friday, for his latest attempt to reconstruct his amiable, hard-working consort."

The Emperor Napoleon, when near St. Cloud, the other day, came upon a groupe of little boys playing in the grass. His majesty took notice of a gingerbread stall that was near at hand, bought up the whole stock and threw it to the boys. The London News observes: "The glorious scramble that followed may be accepted as some compensation for the conscription which will soon draft them into the army."

Tobacco smokers are recommended to put in the bowls of their pipes a little powdered tannin or a sponge saturated with extract of tannin. It is asserted that the smoke will thus be deprived of its characteristic aroma and of all the vaporized nicotine, which is the intoxicating principle. At first the tannin will be entirely free from all taste and smell of tobacco, but when the sponge becomes charged with tannin the odor will reappear. By changing the sponge frequently, it is asserted that the smoker may indulge in the habit without injurious effect.

Physicians were summoned, who decided the injury severe in a critical condition, and that for a month at least the sufferer must remain in a dark room, where no ray of light can reach them.

Every Family should have one of these Wells.

STATE AND COUNTY RIGHTS FOR SALE.

Great inducements to purchasers.

These wells will yield a barrel of water in three minutes. The advantages claimed over other wells are:

First. They descend below the surface water and tap the pure fountains.

Second. They effectually exclude all filth and surface water and contains no vacuum for impure air, and therefore is pure.

Third. They are made with dispatch in summer or winter, without any accumulation of rubbish or litter.

Fourth. Neither rats, mice, bugs or worms can get into these wells.

Fifth. They are less expensive than ordinary wells by one half.

Sixth. By an ingenious arrangement a fine strainer is applied to the inside of the pipe, effectually excluding all sand or dirt from rising with the water.

It should be remembered that the filthy accumulations of our streets and yards are sending their death dealing impurities not only in the atmosphere which we breathe, but that every drop of water that finds its way into the common open well carries with it a portion of these impurities. There is no one thing that so injures good health as pure spring water, and when you find a healthy well, drink freely. If the water is bad, or you will find sickness. Griffin's Patent

WATER PACKER.

This is one of the several Patents for oil operators owned by the subscriber. It has several advantages over any other Seed Bag or Water Packer in use.

1st. It can be put down quicker and is instantly ready for use as there is no waiting for sand to settle, as is by the other patents the well is kept clean.

2d. It can never fasten tubing or casing in a well so that it cannot be taken out readily.

EVERY OTHER PACKER IN USE HAS FASTENED STRINGS OF TUBING AND CASING, SO THEY CANNOT BE DRAWN FROM THE WELL.

3d. It is so constructed by means of a left hand screw thread that it can be lowered in a few minutes and removed from the well without difficulty. Every one of the work above the packer will not prevent the tubing being drawn out readily. It can be taken out and put back without repairs.

4th. The best cheap Water Packer in use, that has all the rights secured by letters Patent granted by the United States to A. D. Griffin, August 11th 1868. The Packer will be sold to the public at the low price of Two Dollars each, with the money refunded to any one or more agents to all parties buying them where they do not give entire satisfaction.
